Staff woes at prison

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

THE governor of HMP Woodhill has said that reduced staffing levels is compromising the safety of its inmates.

The comments by David Hutton came after the latest of a series of inquests into self-inflicted deaths at the jail – which holds a number of notorious Category A prisoners.

And now Coroner Tom Osborne, pictured, will be writing to the Secretary of State for Justice to advise him to conduct a review into the reduced staffing levels – which have fallen by a third in the last five years.

Speaking at the Civic Offices into the death of prisoner Sean Brock, who was found hanging in his cell on November 10 last year, Mr Osborne asked the governor whether the reduced staffing levels were compromising the lives of prisoners.

Mr Hutton replied: "It has got to really. It does impact on the ability to keep prisoners safe."

The inquest, held over two days, heard that the number of officers had reduced from 369 to 239 since 2009.

Now Mr Osborne will be filing a 'prevent further death report' – saying that it was 'his duty' to raise his concerns from the investigations.

He told the court: "I'm going to make this report to review the staffing levels at HMP Woodhill.

"The coroner must report the matter to a person who has power to take such an action.

"When a governor says that numbers are compromising the safety of prisoners then I am under duty to make such a report."

Six prisoners have hanged themselves at the prison since 2011 and an independent report in 2013 was 'concerned that the increases in cuts and services may lead to a potential loss of control, making the prison unsafe for both staff and prisoners'.

A response by the Secretary of State must be filed to the coroner within 56 days saying what action will be taken, and if not, why.

A Prison Service spokesman said: "We are committed to reducing the numbers of self-inflicted deaths in custody and will consider the findings of the inquest to see what lessons can be learned."

The jury reached a unanimous verdict of suicide in the Sean Brock inquest.

Driving future forward with £36m office

A NEW £36million office will create an extra 340 jobs.

Featuring in David Cameron's opening speech at the British Business Festival this week in Liverpool; Volkswagen Financial Services will provide 340 jobs in its new city office by 2018.

Already employing 650 people in a variety of roles, this growth will see the profile of the head office increase significantly.

The company says this next stage in its growth marks the start of 'a very exciting period in the company's history.'

Paul Baylis, head of corporate communications, said: "We are on an exciting journey.

"With the advent of a new regulatory environment it was important to make sure we are delivering the very best at all times.

"Our new state-of-the-art premises will allow us to enhance our offering to our customers and expand our ever growing highly skilled team, in a first class environment."

Situated on the former River Island premises in Delaware Road, the 100,000 square foot building covers four floors.

Internally, it will include flexible working spaces, a theatre-style conference centre and a staff restaurant and coffee shop.

Externally, there will be a staff car park and bike storage, as well as large green areas.

The new building is expected to be completed this autumn with a contemporary design.

Graham Wheeler, managing director of Volkswagen Financial Services, said: "Our move to these new offices will allow us to remain close to our sister company, The Volkswagen Group, and provide enough space for our future plans.

"It also secures the future of VWFS as a major contributor to the economy of Milton Keynes."

Hair salon is for kids only

A HAIRDRESSERS open only to children has been unveiled in Grange Farm.

Short Cuts children's salon and party room was opened in Singleton Drive on Monday by owner David O'Neal and his partner Kylie Baker.

Mr O'Neal came up with the idea a year ago after finding his children Cameron, seven, and Cairon, four, were getting bored and easily distracted when he was cutting their hair.

"It's quite a big concept in America but for some reason there aren't many in the UK.

"I'm just a bit of a wacky personality and having a business which involves helping children out is really fun."

The salon includes PlayStations for youngsters to play on and racing car seats.

The four stylists employed have been trained by expert Marion Burns to cut kid's hair.

Minister praises Stony Stratford High Street during visit

THE minister responsible for the country's high streets has praised Stony Stratford during a visit.

Brandon Lewis MP has been touring towns across the country to discover the challenges high streets are facing and stopped by in the town on Friday.

He was welcomed by the Stony Stratford Business Association, which has been running since 1981.

Mr Lewis said: "Stony Stratford High Street has all the trademarks of a successful town.

"There are strong independent and specialist shops, a clean and attractive environment and a healthy local business association.

"I was very impressed by the owners we met; they have a really optimistic outlook. As a Government we need to make sure we deal with the challenges high streets face and make sure the UK economy keeps moving forward."

Brandon, accompanied by city MP Iain Stewart, visited Lesley Arkin Optometrist, Woodstock's Bakery, cycle shop Twenty3C and The Stani Gallery. Mr Stewart added: "It was very much a mutually beneficial visit."

New place of worship set for Kiln Farm

BY JAMES AVERILL

Share your views on this www.mkweb.co.uk

ANOTHER place of worship could be built near a music venue – leading to fears from the club's owners that it may lead to more noise complaints.

The Kiln Farm Club was the subject of a noise abatement notice served by Milton Keynes Council, following complaints from a neighbouring Sikh temple.

Now a full application has been submitted to the council for the change of use from an office to a place of worship in Tilers Road.

The application has come from the Sri Sathya Sai Charitable Trust, a body that follows the teachings of Bhagawan Sri Sathya Sai.

The group supports the relief of poverty and sickness and that drinking water, education and medicine should be available for free.

Simon O'Brien, a co-director of the Kiln Farm Club, said that while he was not against the idea of another place of worship on their doorstep, it could cause concern if more noise complaints were made by a religious group, especially if the building was to offer overnight shelter to the people it promises to help.

He told MK NEWS: "I'm not against the idea totally but if there were going to be more noise complaints it could have an impact.

"If they help people in need I won't be against that but if there was some sort of shelter for people in poverty then that could have an impact on us."

And they called it 'Puggy Love'

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

TWO love-struck pugs got married in a £2,000 ceremony – complete with wedding dress and tuxedo.

Betty and Albert are owned by dog groomer, Christine Reynolds, 52, from Walnut Tree, who organised the wedding after the two became inseparable.

Betty dazzled in a £100 custom-made white dress with matching lingerie and a veil and held a bouquet of flowers in her mouth, while Albert donned a smart tux complete with a trilby and a bow tie.

Instead of exchanging wedding rings on their fingers, they attached them to their collars.

Mrs Reynolds said: "I know what people must think. I am barking mad but I know my pugs are in love so getting them married seemed like the right thing to do.

"Now they can sleep in the same bed and hopefully have some puppies together."

Mrs Reynolds bought Albert, now two, in 2012 and Betty, now aged one, last year.

The pampered pooches were constantly eating from the same bowl, snuggling on the sofa and washing each other, so on Sunday Mrs Reynolds took them to get married at Kitz-Katz cattery in Northamptonshire.

The happy couple and their doggy friends then danced the night away at a nearby hotel with a dog cake and human cake for the owners.

A week before the big day, the pug couple had a hen night and stag do at The Swan Inn in Milton Keynes Village which included L plates, bunny ears and dog-friendly cocktails.

Mrs Reynolds' husband, Julian, 43, said: "It's all bonkers."

Raising a glass to plan

IN RESPONSE to Arun Valdyanathan's letter in last week's paper; why the assumption that the majority of people in central Bletchley oppose the plan for Wetherspoons to take over the former Co-op site?

I live in central Bletchley and I, along with everybody I have spoken to, have never been asked for our views. We've had to live with that eyesore for years and any takeover would be an improvement.

Where are the pubs that are likely to close down? There's only one pub left – that's the Bletchley Arms.

Bletchley desperately needs something to uplift the town centre. I've watched the decline of this town over the past 45 years thanks to the shortsightedness of a succession of councillors who can see no further than their precious 'city centre'.

So if a company such as Wetherspoons wants to move in, it should be welcomed.

Sail away boaters

I WAS interested to read your report last week concerning the eviction of ill boaters.

I doubt anyone is being threatened with eviction, ill or otherwise. Incidentally it is amazing how many sick people there are on boats once they get to Milton Keynes. Must be something in the water!

The real reason for concern for Anita de Klerk and her pressure group is that they are at last being encouraged to abide by the waterway regulations they signed up to when they bought their licences.

Most of these boaters have continuous cruising licences, which requires them to be on a genuine cruise of the canal system and not going backwards and forwards in Milton Keynes.

There must be upwards of 100 liveaboard boaters permanently in Milton Keynes. They don't go into marinas because they don't want to pay mooring fees.

Genuine cruising boaters and hire craft often find it impossible to find good moorings because they are filled with boaters living there.

This problem has been growing for years, but because of the weak management of British Waterways in the South East and its refusal to do anything about it, the problem has now grown to epic proportions which the Canal and River Trust is having to deal with.

Spread out housing

IN REPLY to James Rolton's letter published on May 28.

The letter you refer to was not anonymous – full name and address were supplied – and nor is it relevant to the valid opinion expressed.

You have completely missed the point and made completely incorrect assumptions.

I did not say houses should not be built at all and at no time did I cast 'scorn' on the people who live in the new developments. Those people are me. I live on an estate in the area.

My concerns relate to how and where the estates are built.

All people deserve decent housing, where as now we are building homes that are so close together you have to leave your lights on all day as insufficient natural light gets in the windows.

Neighbours fall out about the parking, as it is insufficient to cover the residents' needs, let alone visitors, so people block the pavements and verges. Noise complaints rocket and there is no such thing as privacy. My estate suffers from these problems.

There is land here to spread out but if a builder can sell 100 houses instead of 50 on a piece of land, he's happy. In my view, the council has a responsibility not to allow irresponsible building.

The infrastructure needs to be able to cope with the expansion. You can't keep piling more and more people and cars into small areas of Milton Keynes that already suffer problems.

Spread it out. Build humane homes that take account of real people. Bad building and planning doesn't create communities, it rips them apart.

Not offended by flag

ANYONE that finds this offensive needs to get a grip ('Concern as flag likened to KKK'). No doubt it is a tiny minority, whereas the vast majority find it totally harmless and a good bit of fun – not to mention a chance to support our national team at the World Cup.

Honestroy

UTTERLY ridiculous. Most sensible people would never liken this to the KKK. Pity these people haven't got something more useful to do – they are just stirring up trouble where there is none.

Iain's Monthly Focus

Put your questions to Iain Stewart MP

LAST week saw the State Opening of Parliament and the Queen's Speech. Behind all the pomp and ceremony, what is the political significance of the occasion? We put some questions to Milton Keynes South MP, Iain Stewart.

So what exactly is the Queen's Speech and why does it matter?

The event marks the start of the new parliamentary year and sets out the Government's legislative plans (or Bills) for the new session.

There is also a historical significance to the occasion. When Black Rod, the Queen's representative at Westminster, approaches the Commons to summon MPs to hear her speech in the House of Lords, the door to the Commons' chamber is slammed in his face; a reminder of the Commons' willingness to resist the Crown in the 17th Century.

What new legislation was announced?

The Queen's Speech this year contained some very significant measures. Some people have complained that, with the general election due next year, the Government has run out of things to do and we would have a 'Zombie Parliament'.

That is far from the case. MPs will be debating, scrutinising and voting on important Bills like a new state-funded childcare subsidy worth up to £2,000 a year; reforming pensions so that people have much more control over the money they have put aside for their retirement; extra legal protection for people being sued for negligence if they act heroically or in the public interest; and tougher penalties for employers who fail to pay the minimum wage and a crackdown on abuse of zero-hour contracts.

What about Private Members Bills?

In addition to all the Government Bills that the Queen announced, each session of Parliament includes time for backbench MPs to put forward Bills of their own.

MPs enter their name into a ballot and the first 20 names randomly selected get the chance to submit a Bill.

Sometimes these will be on minor changes of the law but sometimes major changes to the country can be made by a Private Members Bill. For example, the current law on abortion and the abolition of the death penalty were the result of Private Members Bills.

So if your name is drawn, what Bill would you introduce?

I have had to rethink my plans as the one I would have introduced has already been done! Had the Government not done it, I would have introduced a Bill to give the Bletchley Park Codebreaker, Alan Turing, a pardon.

If I am successful this year, I will try to reintroduce the Bill to give the country a referendum on our membership of the EU.

One of my fellow Conservative MPs introduced a Bill to do this in the last session, but Labour and the Lib Dems conspired to prevent it passing.

I would willingly pick up the baton and have another go!

Dream comes true: One Direction with the Carter family including Hollie, right, with Harry Styles

One Direction meet Hollie

A SERIOUSLY ill 10-year-old's dream was made a reality when she met One Direction.

Hollie Carter, from Shenley Brook End, suffers with an incurable condition called Niemann Pick Type C (NPC), sometimes known as childhood alzheimer's. She was the inspiration behind the Hope for Hollie Foundation, which became a registered charity to support others families in April this year.

A 16-year-old boy from Shenley Brook End helped Hollie accomplish her dream when he created an appeal video for the charity.

After hearing about Hollie and how she wanted to meet the band, Carl Mason got in touch with the group's management who recommended he spoke to Rays of Sunshine Children's Charity.

Thanks to Carl and Rays of Sunshine, Hollie got to hug Harry Styles at Wembley Arena before enjoying their concert on Sunday.

Hollie's mum Helen Carter said: "This once in a lifetime wish was made possible by a 16-year-old who took Hollie to his heart."

Cop says: 'don't give to beggars'

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

A POLICE officer who deals with anti-social behaviour is urging people not to give money to beggars in the street.

PC Dave Goodwin says that around half of beggars, between eight and 10 in the city, are not genuinely homeless and he told MK NEWS that if people wanted to help, they should give money through proper charities.

"Giving them money is perpetuating their existence and giving them no inclination to take the offers of help which are available to them."

The warning comes in the wake of the ASBO given to Jamie Cooke, the beggar who earned up to £1,000 a week from the street despite living with his girlfriend in Weavers Hill, Fullers Slade.

And with summer and the hot weather approaching, PC Goodwin expects more 'beggars' to take to the street.

MK NEWS was contacted last week by Shireen Koldemir, who said she was approached by three people within 10 minutes of getting off a train at Milton Keynes Central station. She said: "I find it very intimidating.

"I very often don't have enough money for my electric at the end of the month but I would never ever go begging."

In response, PC Goodwin said: "It's not nice that she has had to go through that."

Outraged: Sandra Burne, 68, has been told to muzzle her Yorkshire cross, Polly, over 'bite' fears

Owner's upset at muzzle order

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A CARER who looks after her disabled husband has been told she must put a muzzle on her dog after the retirement village where they live claimed it bit another resident.

Sandra Burne, 68, lives with her husband, Peter, in Shenley Wood Village.

Peter, 74, requires 24-hour care after a brain haemorrhage and Sandra, who takes care of him, is kept company by her two-year-old Yorkshire cross, Polly, who she has owned for the two years since they moved in. Sandra has been told by the village manager, Karen Latarche, that she must put a muzzle on Polly after she allegedly bit resident Betty Kelly.

Sandra is outraged by the request and claims Polly never bit her friend, it was just an accident.

Betty said: "It was just an accident, she did not bite me. Being old I have thin skin and Polly just caught me. She is such a nice dog who just rolls over for you to tickle her belly."

Sandra started a petition against the decision and said more than 200 residents signed it, but it has been taken off her by staff.

She added: "This is causing me terrible stress and depression, even to the point of not wanting to go on. This dog is a lifeline to me. She is neither aggressive nor a nuisance. It is tremendously unfair that I should be targeted like this."

A spokesman for The ExrtraCare Charitable Trust, which run the village, said: "We absolutely welcome pets and recognise they are valuable companions for our residents. If there is an issue then we will speak to the owner and come to a solution that suits everyone."

Mike back as mayor

COUNCILLOR Mike Barry has been elected as Newport Pagnell's town mayor. He was the town council's mayor from 2000-2004 and has also been Mayor of Milton Keynes. He said: "It is a great privilege and my charity will be the Brooklands Centre."

Duchess snubs council invite

A TOWN council has invited the Duchess of Cambridge to see its 'traditional' high street.

As part of her visit to Bletchley Park on June 18, Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council asked Buckingham Palace if The Duchess would like to visit the town's high street. A spokesman for Buckingham Palace said: "Her Royal Highness's programme is unlikely to be changed at this stage."

Her visit to Bletchley Park is a private engagement but Town Clerk Lisa Courtney said: "We are very excited."

Regulatory unit scrapped

MILTON Keynes Council has scrapped its regulatory unit – this newspaper can reveal.

It will now will be split between two service units; Environmental Health and Trading Standards.

One source told MK NEWS: "We think the council did this because of the embarrassment over Karen Ford. Now after all that work it's back to how it used to be."

Ms Ford resigned in March after posting inappropriate messages online about people the unit had prosecuted.

The council said there would be 'no difference in the service to members of the public'.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 18 and he'll be happy to help!

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL

Councillor gets hump over road

Danger drive: Cars swerve into the middle of Countess Way to avoid the speed humps

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW councillor has joined the list of people calling for a review into the layout of a road on a city estate.

Cllr Sam Crooks, the recently elected Liberal Democrat councillor for the Broughton ward, wants to see the new Labour council review the layout of the troublesome Countess Way to spare residents 'another four months of misery'.

Speed humps put in by Milton Keynes Council in the last two months have led to the big lorries which use the route causing a loud bang every time they go over them.

There are also concerns that speed humps on the grid road are so far apart that cars are dangerously swerving into the middle to avoid them.

Cllr Crooks said: "There had been a review promised for six months after they were put in. But I want the new Labour cabinet portfolio holder to intervene soon and spare residents four more months of misery."

Cllr Crook's Broughton ward colleagues, John Bint and Catriona Morris, have also been campaigning.

Labour leader Pete Marland told MK NEWS: "We are willing to listen to any concerns that councillors have if they brief it with the appropriate members of the cabinet."

A council spokesman said that the width of speed cushions 'met the criteria' and that speeding had reduced by 58 per cent since they were implemented in April.

Child sex offender's term cut

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN with Asperger's Syndrome who repeatedly had sex with an underage schoolgirl has convinced top judges to slash his sentence.

Jonathan Devonshire, 20, bedded the 13-year-old despite knowing she was below the age of consent.

Devonshire, of Radstock Crescent, Broughton, was handed two years and four months in a young offenders' institution in February after he admitted two counts of sexual activity with a child at Aylesbury Crown Court.

On Wednesday three senior judges at London's Appeal Court upheld a challenge by Devonshire – and cut it to 18 months.

Sir Colin Mackay, sitting with Lord Justice Jackson and Mr Justice Andrew Smith, said Devonshire had protected and unprotected consensual sex with the girl before police were alerted by her family.

The judge said Devonshire had a diminished appreciation of the consequences of his actions because of his Asperger's, but knew what he had done was wrong.

He was not a dangerous person and had no previous convictions, Sir Mackay added.

On appeal, Devonshire's barrister argued the sentence was too long and called for him to be freed.

As Devonshire watched via video link, Sir Mackay said: "It was a significantly serious matter, with aggravating factors but, in our judgment, the sentence imposed was manifestly excessive."

Man: The artwork on the roundabout

Leaping statue jumps into view

A STATUE which drew its inspiration from Greg Rutherford's London 2012 Olympics success has been unveiled.

The Leaping Man has appeared on the A421 Fen Street roundabout, stands at 8.7 metres and lights up at night.

Rutherford said the statue looked 'blooming amazing' on Twitter.

Although the idea began because of Rutherford's London win, former mayor Brian White said the statue also depicted Milton Keynes' success as a whole.

Inquiry into 'noisy' motocross circuit

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A PLANNING inspector will decide whether to close down a motocross track that has sparked noise complaints from nearby residents.

The Parks Trust has appealed against an enforcement notice by Milton Keynes Council to stop operations at its Pineham Motocross circuit – a 1.6km race track used by motorbikes that is situated just off the M1 near Willen.

Under current regulations the site is deemed as parkland, but 28 days a year it can be used for motocross without planning permission.

But in September last year it was deemed that mounds on the track resulted in a change of use of the site and an enforcement notice was served requiring the track to be removed.

Nearby residents in Willen had also been lodging complaints about noise coming from the site.

Now a public inquiry will be held at the Civic Offices on July 8 and 9 and Campbell Park Parish Council has said it will represent Willen residents to show the 'true depth of public feeling on the matter'.

Briony Fox, head of community engagement at The Parks Trust, said: "We are appealing. There are one or two residents who are against it, but for 28 days a year it is not an unreasonable thing to expect people to tolerate."

Carrier bags of dog mess cause a stink

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS are being asked to help solve a mystery puzzle that is kicking up a stink on one city estate.

The recent fly-tipping of faeces at a dog waste bin at the eastern end of Walbrook Avenue, next to the Grand Union Canal in Springfield, has irked Campbell Park Parish Council.

The mystery dumper is leaving up to 30 carrier bags full of dog poo a week – overflowing the bin and giving litter pickers a nasty job clearing it up.

Recent inspections have highlighted the problem, with quantities being far in excess of normal domestic use. And the council says this is fly-tipping on a 'commercial scale'.

John McLinton, environment officer for the parish council, said: "It's a very nice walk down by the canal and this is anti-social and ruining it for people. It shouldn't be done.

"We've put up notices asking people to keep an eye out."

The council's clerk Dominic Warner told MK NEWS: "The parish council is mystified by this recent spate of fly-tipping and is concerned by the impact it is having on the local environment.

"But we are sure that the situation can be returned to normal with the help of residents, the vast majority of whom respect and value the dog waste disposal service provided by Campbell Park Parish Council."

Anyone with information should contact the council on 01908 608559.

This stinks: John McLinton has put up notices appealing for an end to the fly-tipping of large volumes of dog waste in Springfield

Keeping an eye: Briony Fox, head of community engagement at The Parks Trust, hopes the patch of blue-green algae at Willen Lake South will be gone within a fortnight and says the lake will be regularly monitored

Toxic algae has retuned at lake

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

USERS of a city lake have been warned to be careful following the return of a toxic form of algae.

The Parks Trust hopes removing some of the weeds at Willen Lake South will get rid of the blue-green algae within the next two weeks.

In the meantime, signs have been put up to warn boat users of the danger the algae poses. It can be toxic to animals and can cause skin rashes, eye irritation, vomiting, diarrhoea, fever and muscle and joint pain in people.

"The actual occurrence this year is in a very small area and it's very isolated," said Briony Fox, the trust's head of community engagement.

"We have equipment to inhibit the growth, but occasionally if the weed has been quite virulent we get a small bloom of blue-green algae."

She added the lake will be tested every week to see if the algal blooms have disappeared.

At the moment watersports are still taking place on the lake but protective clothing and washing facilities have been provided to safeguard users if they fall into the water.

As previously reported by MK NEWS, watersports were stopped on the lake last year because of the algae.

Anyone who is concerned about algal blooms on any water in Milton Keynes can contact The Parks Trust on 01908 233600.

Big screen debut for the Neath Hill pirate

Stars of the show: Alfie Ewens, five, and Bob Stott arrive at the premiere of the film, which was inspired by Dave Garnett, inset

THE red carpet was waiting for the stars of the latest film set in Milton Keynes.

And the movie which brought them there concentrates on the true story of a pirate at a fish and chip shop in Neath Hill.

The inspiration behind the heartwarming story is Dave Garnett, a business manager at Graphnet Health in Newport Pagnell, who was forced to wear an eye patch after his brain tumour caused problems with his eyesight.

A couple of years ago he was approached by a youngster in the fish and chip shop in Neath Hill who asked him if he was a real pirate.

Mischievous Dave played along and he soon had the whole chip shop laughing at his conversation with the cheeky lad.

A couple of years later, and after a chat with filmmaker friends Alan Mallyon and Dave Moyle, the film was born.

The six-minute short film was premiered at the Arts Central building in Station Square on Thursday.

Dave, who is played by Bob Stott in the film, said: "This little kid and the questions he asked me – such as where my ship was – was a little gem. I'm glad it has been brought to life on the screen."

Playing that cheeky youngster is Alfie Ewens, five, from Webber Independent School. He was transported by limousine to the premiere, with mum Katie saying he 'felt like a celebrity'.

Dave Moyle, who edited the film, said: "MK should be a place where people want to come to make films.

"We hope the film encourages kids to become interested in it."

HOW TO GET MORE MONEY OUT OF YOUR PENSION TAX FREE

Pensions are a wonderfully tax efficient way of saving for your retirement. You get tax relief on your payments into a pension, your pension fund grows virtually tax free and you can take a 25% tax free lump sum from your pension when you start to draw your retirement benefits.

The great bugbear for some is that three quarters of your pension fund has to be taken as income and is subject to Income Tax. Well did you know that you can get more tax free cash out of the remaining 75% of your pension fund? Let me explain how you do it.

If you re-invest the income from your pension into a second personal pension then you build a further pension from which you will eventually be able to take a further tax free lump sum of 25%!

This only really works if you are not yet reliant on the income from your pension but you do want the tax free cash lump sum. This works really well for people who are aged 55+ and are perhaps wanting to phase their retirement up until say their state retirement age. You do need to have a source of earned income i.e. salary or self-employed profits unless the amount you wish to re-invest each year is £3,600 or less. Let's use a simple example.

Tony Byrne
Chartered and Certified Financial Planner
Author of Wealth Magic

You have a personal pension worth £100K. You are aged 55+. You decide to take the tax free cash of £25K and continue working part-time. You then draw a pension income of, say, £7,500 a year for the next 10 years. This second pension will have received £75K in pension contributions from you over 10 years. Let's assume its value has now increased to £150K. You can now take £37.5K as a tax free lump sum from your second pension. This is equivalent to a 50% Income Tax saving on your original pension which would have suffered Income Tax on at least £75K.

If you are approaching retirement and/or considering early retirement and need advice why not get in touch?

Pupils have first glimpse of shop

CHILDREN from eight primary schools got a sneak peak of a new Sainsbury's.

The pupils were taken on a tour of the Shenley Church End store, which is due to open at the end of June, by the supermarket's construction mascot Ivor Goodsite. They learnt about the dangers of construction sites and had rides in police and fire vehicles. Heather Cormack, deputy headteacher of Asbrook School, said: "They thoroughly enjoyed it."

Plans for £8m solar farm are submitted

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS have been submitted to build an £8million solar farm in a town.

MK NEWS first revealed in October that Green Energy UK Direct had submitted a screening opinion request to Milton Keynes Council for farmland at The Kickles in Newport Pagnell.

Now a full planning application is due to be heard by the council's development control committee in the next few months.

The plans will see 28,368 panels built on the six mega watt site, which will be enough to power 4,000 homes in the community.

Each panel had originally been planned to be three metres high, but that has now been reduced to two metres, though part of the site would be visible to nearby residents.

Rod Crosby, a business development manager at Green Energy UK who is in charge of overseeing the project, said: "I have attended public exhibitions and there was a mixed response, though most of that was against vehicular access as opposed to protests to the farm itself."

If given the go-ahead, the site would take six to eight weeks to construct.

Inspector raises rail track danger

Karma clothing

A CITY designer has launched a clothing range to raise funds to help protect wild big cats.

Claire Maley, 25, from Bletchley has produced T-shirts, dresses and swimsuits featuring animal prints in aid of Australian conservation charity Karma Cats.

BY SCOTT KIRK

A BRITISH Transport Police inspector has warned of the dangers of railway tracks after a woman was spotted lying on one.

Inspector Chris Casey said that even though people may be able to hear trains approaching, they travel so fast they could catch them out – and have fatal consequences.

"Sometimes people don't realise the risk they are taking on these crossings," said Insp Casey.

"People think they're going to hear the train coming but don't realise how quick they actually travel.

"The consequences are that you could be hit by a train – and not many people come off well when that happens."

Insp Casey added that it is a criminal offence to be on a railway line and it can lead to a fine of up to £1,000. He also reminded people that passersby who may be on the line can cause disruption for commuters if delays occur because of them.

It comes after police released images that were captured on Sunday, April 13 by a Network Rail camera placed to monitor the crossing on a footpath close to Davenport Lea in Old Farm Park in the city.

It showed a man and a woman on the track.

A man from Milton Keynes has since contacted the police and will voluntarily attend an interview with officers at a later date.

British Transport Police has now cancelled an appeal for more information and has told this newspaper proceedings are now active in a legal case.

A421 and Kingston Roundabout 'Pinch Point' improvement works

Work starts on 16 June 2014

What's happening?

1km of the A421 from east of Fen Roundabout will be upgraded to a dual carriageway. At the same time, Kingston roundabout will be improved to relieve congestion at this other 'pinch point' area.

Milton Keynes Council's £16m project includes £8.81m of grant funding which it successfully secured through the Government's Pinch Point bid process in mid-2013.

Milton Keynes Council has awarded the contract to Balfour Beatty who will carry out the improvement works.

Why?

The A421 is major road for eastern Milton Keynes, providing a route to Junction 13 of the M1 and sees a high volumes of traffic at all times of the day. With future development areas nearby, the volume of traffic will increase and therefore we are making these improvements now so that future needs are met early.

When?

Site clearance work was completed in February and the main work will now commence on 16 June 2014.

The work is planned to be complete by Summer 2015.

There may be some delays whilst the work is being done however every effort is being made to minimise disruption.

A look back at the

Gigs force closure of city roads

THE summer concerts at the bowl mean motorists will have to find alternative routes – as a number of nearby roads will be closed.

Routes that will be shut include:

- The V4 Watling Street from its junction with H6 Childs Way at Knowlhill Roundabout to its junction with H8 Standing Way at Elfield Park Roundabout
- Davy Avenue, Knowlhill, from its junction with H7 Chaffron Way to its junction with Kelvin Drive, Knowlhill
- H7 Chaffron Way from its junction with V3 Fulmer Street to its junction with V6 Grafton Street
- H6 Childs Way from its junction with V6 Grafton Street to its junction with V4 Watling Street
- The access road that links Elfield Park and Chesney Wold, Bleak Hall (commonly known as Pear Tree Lane), will be closed

More information can be found at www.mkweb.co.uk

AS BIG summer concerts at The National Bowl get closer, James Averill looks back at the legends who have played at the iconic venue

THE list is endless. And it features some of music's most worshipped acts.

There's Queen, Michael Jackson, Jay Z, Robbie Williams and his old mates Take That.

The one thing they all have in common is that they have played in Milton Keynes at the iconic National Bowl.

And who would have thought that a former clay pit in the heart of the city could be turned into an unconventional grassland amphitheatre that could host such names.

Desmond Decker and Geno Washington opened the venue in 1979, but The Police were the first major act to arrive in July 1980. That decade saw many more iconic music acts such as David Bowie, Genesis and Bon Jovi.

Have a little patience: The wait to see Take That at the National Bowl was worth it for their fans

Then, in perhaps the most memorable of all those concerts, Queen burst on to the stage in all their flamboyant glory in 1982.

The band's memorable performance has been immortalised forever in the Queen on Fire: Live at The Bowl DVD film.

The King of Pop, Michael Jackson, then moon-walked onto the stage in 1988 during his Bad tour.

bowl's top shows

The 90s was a far more rocky decade, with Bruce Springsteen, Guns 'N' Roses and Metallica all sending the mosh pit wild.

Since the naughties began the gigs have been less regular, but the quality has remained.

Rock lovers were again spoiled with Oasis and Foo Fighters,

Then Jay Z, right, joined up with Linkin Park in 2008 and most recently in 2012 Swedish electronic trio Swedish House Mafia chose the bowl as the venue to play their last gig before splitting.

And 2014 looks set to be just as good, with Kings of Leon on June 22 and Pearl Jam on July 11.

Acts like Calvin Harris and Avicii will then arrive for the Electric Daisy Carnival on July 12-13.

'MK is back on the map'

THE head of the city's leading tourism group says that the bowl gigs will put Milton Keynes 'back on the map' for music fans.

Steven Gordon-Wilson, chief executive of Destination Milton Keynes, said: "There hadn't been a big gig there for a little while so hopefully this will put Milton Keynes back on the map for these people.

"We know that when there is gig at the bowl the takings at restaurants and bars at places like Xscape go through the roof, so it will be great for business."

Steven added it was now 'nigh on impossible' to find a hotel room for the Kings of Leon and Pearl Jam gigs on June 22 and July 11.

Community is key for mayor Subhan

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

SUBHAN Shafiq has been elected as the city's new mayor.

The Lib Dem councillor, who represents the Monkston ward, took over from Brian White in a packed ceremony in the council chamber last Wednesday.

Cllr Shafiq is married with three children and originally hails from Batley in West Yorkshire, but has lived in Milton Keynes for the past 25 years.

He is a member of the Milton Keynes branch of Thames Valley Police's Independent Advisory Group and a trustee of Wolverton Mosque and Community Centre.

And as a Yorkshireman – perhaps unsurprisingly – he is a keen cricketer and president of both MK Azad and Westcroft cricket clubs.

The chosen charities for his mayoral year will be Willen Hospice and MacIntyre – a national charity which caters for children and adults with learning difficulties.

Cllr Shafiq said: "It is an honour to be representing Milton Keynes and I will be working across all communities to best highlight and promote it.

"It's not just infrastructure that makes a city, it is the community within, and we will work to protect and grow our sense of community, for it is Milton Keynes' greatest source of strength.

"I also look forward to working with my chosen charities."

Cllr Keith McLean, inset, has been elected as the city's MK on the ball for World Cup

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

WORLD Cup fever is gripping the city once again with businesses and residents getting ready for England's latest bid at global glory.

To celebrate the beautiful game's most prestigious tournament, the Broughton Hotel will donate a tin of food to the MK Food Bank for every goal scored in the World Cup – a gift which also took place during Euro 2012, which saw 88 tins being given away.

Mark Fitzsimon, general manager, said: "It's about people who have fallen on hard times and we want to let people know what the Food Bank is all about."

The pub has also set aside a 'family stand' for youngsters to watch the games without hearing foul language, with other drinkers watching the game in another part of the establishment.

England fans have already been showing their support for Roy Hodgson's men – who start their campaign on Saturday against Italy – by writing good luck messages on a flag in intu Milton Keynes on Friday.

Up for the cup: Mark Fitzsimon from the Broughton Hotel

And commercial property landlord Bucks-Biz will be doubling the bandwidth for broadband at Denbigh Business Park, Bletchley Business Campus and the i-Centre in Newport Pagnell.

"We are expecting that there will be an upsurge in demand for high speed internet," said chairman Joe Muscat.

Businesses are being urged to make sure they have the correct TV licence before the games. To download a viewing guide, visit mkweb.co.uk

We are also helping residents get behind England by giving away five car sets, featuring flags for the bonnet and windows and two side mirror covers. To enter email the name of the England manager to james.averill@mk-news.co.uk by noon on Friday.

Coming up: Your guide to all the World Cup action.

Are you being served?: Newton Blossomville resident Jon Taylor-Handley, pictured, and his husband Liam want to help their community by setting up and running a shop. Insert: What they hope the kiosk they are raising the money for will look like

Plan for village kiosk

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

VILLAGERS are going the extra mile to open a shop in their community.

Married couple Jon and Liam Taylor-Handley from Newton Blossomville are trying to raise £5,000 to pay for a village kiosk.

The two managing directors of Berics Accounting came up with the idea when they ran out of milk and had to take a 30 minute drive to and from Olney to buy more.

Jon said: "During the winter months the country roads are icy and with their lack of lighting, can be dangerous.

"The village has many retired residents, or those with young families, so we just want to do what we can to make life a little easier."

Jon, 32, and Liam, 31, plan to build the wooden kiosk in Clifton Road, which they will run alongside volunteers.

It will open seven days a week and sell basics such as milk and bread, which would be restocked on a weekly basis. They hope to have seating outside in the summer to encourage visitors and are considering taking orders from residents. Any profits that are made will be donated to the village church.

So far they have raised about £200 and have set themselves a target to raise the full amount in 40 days.

If they don't meet their target Jon and Liam plan to buy a smaller structure until the £5,000 is raised.

A Public Understanding of Science Lecture:

'The Science of Climate Change in Antarctica'

Speaker: Dr Simon A Morley
British Antarctic Survey, Cambridge
All Welcome Admission Free

Dr Morley will explain how the warming of parts of the Antarctic has led to the rapid melting of ice shelves and glaciers and the implications this has for sea level rise. During his 12 years working as a marine biologist in the Antarctic he has measured the impact of this warming on the marine animals that live there and will describe how our understanding of why these animals are so sensitive to warming is helping to predict the resilience of species from other regions of the planet.

lovestory

I KNOW West Side Story is a musical, but it was the choreography rather than the singing which wowed me, writes Scott Kirk.

The dancing was absolutely superb and the ensemble pieces including all the cast were outstanding.

I also felt the sets were ingenious, and I liked the pictures of New York displayed on the wall.

Louis Maskell, who plays Tony, had an absolutely sublime voice and he was impressive in hitting the very high and low notes during his songs.

Katie Hall was also very good as Maria.

I had never seen West Side Story before this performance, so I was amazed when I knew quite a few of the songs, including America and Tonight, and I found myself happily humming along.

The show runs at Milton Keynes Theatre until Saturday.

Tickets cost between £15 and £45 and can be bought by visiting www.atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes

filmreview

A FILM that revolves around repeating the same day runs the risk of being, well, repetitive.

But Edge of Tomorrow is nothing short of suspenseful perfection as Tom Cruise battles deadly aliens in this time looped sci-fi thriller.

In a not too distant future aliens known as Mimics have hit earth in a devastating assault that has crippled all military units in the world.

Major William Cage has never seen a day of combat in his life but is soon swept up in the chaos of one last assault on the Mimics.

Killed within minutes, Cage finds himself thrown into a time loop that forces him to relive the brutal combat as he dies over and over. But with each battle Cage becomes a skilled fighter and alongside Special Forces warrior Rita Vrataski, unlocks the secret to defeating the Mimics once and for all.

Despite a seemingly restricted concept, director Doug Liman gets plenty of mileage out of it with an action-packed story that becomes increasingly creative.

Tom Cruise heads up the cast as Cage and proves that he can still shoulder the weight of a sci-fi blockbuster. He clearly delights in his role as he packs cowardly, intimidated, hero and warrior all into one character.

Emily Blunt fits snugly into the combat boots of Vrataski, as she physically and emotionally transforms from feminine beauty to hardened bad-ass.

Unlike other sci-fi flicks, Edge of Tomorrow throws the Mimics in our faces early on and doesn't hold back on their stunning but lethal design.

With seamless directing, ferocious acting and a clever script, this film brings together lofty moral issues while still finding time to blow up some monster aliens.

Cadences will be accompanied by a diverse public events programme, including solo-voice theatre performance Melanie Pappenheim: Falling on July 26 at 3pm and 7pm and July 27 at 3pm and 5pm.

turnblue

THE Black Keys have established themselves at the forefront of the rock 'n' roll scene in the last few years.

They faced a tough job with their latest EP in living up to the expectations raised by previous album El Camino.

After all, most bands find it difficult to hit such heights after they've recorded what most people consider to be their magnum opus.

Turn Blue, which was released last month, is not as catchy as El Camino, but it's still a good album and shows Dan Auerbach and Patrick Carney moving in a different direction. This is far more of an instrumental album, more tuned to the headphones than the car stereo.

Fever is the first standout track, with a keyboard riff that wouldn't be out of place in a Kraftwerk tune.

Other standouts include Bullet In The Brain in a solid showing considering the change in sound.

Furzton

ENTERING this fabulous five-bedroom family home, you are welcomed by a spacious sized entrance hall with a beautiful centred butterfly staircase rising to your first floor.

There is a fantastic, light living space throughout, which briefly includes a dual aspect lounge and a separate dining room with three access points including to the kitchen/breakfast area and out to the patio in the rear garden.

Off the kitchen/breakfast room there is a utility, sun room and access to the double garage.

Upstairs there is an exceptional landing area currently used as a second open plan living room with doors leading to the balcony.

Three of the five bedrooms have en-suites and one has its own private balcony.

This delightful home is situated near Furzton Lake, which can be viewed from the property.

With plenty of nearby walks and only moments away from Central Milton Keynes and the main train station, this home is a must for those looking for a statement property at an affordable price.

There is also (subject to the relevant planning permission) the chance to extend and create more living space. This is possible because the property benefits from a corner plot and both front and rear gardens are of good size.

Cats

MISSING CAT - PLEASE HELP

My cat Sydney has been missing for over a year. She was a street cat rescued from Egypt along with her siblings who are still with me. She escaped the house when a builder left the door open. She is very small for her age so may be mistaken for 6-8 months of age. She is white and tabby with big ears and eyes. She is microchipped but was not wearing a collar. She is friendly but likely to be unapproachable. She went missing on Ampthill road Flitwick. If you have seen her in your garden or are looking after her please let me know

Leigh Jamieson to play for Lightning for another year

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

SIGNED ON: Leigh Jamieson

MILTON Keynes Lightning have confirmed that the 2014-15 season will see forward Leigh Jamieson return to the club for a sixth successive year.

The coming campaign should now see MK-born Jamieson pass the joint landmarks of 350 games played in Lightning colours and 750 senior games at both club and international levels.

Jamieson was trained in the city's junior system and began his career with the MK Kings, continuing his career under the guidance of player-coach Nick Poole when Lightning were formed in 2002.

The following year saw a move to Belfast Giants where he remained for five consecutive terms, before a transfer to then Elite League champions Coventry Blaze.

In the summer of 2009 Jamieson signed to return to Lightning and in his first season back he was part of the English Premier League championship-winning roster.

During his career Jamieson has amassed considerable experience at international level, with 26 games for Team GB seniors, in addition to his appearances at U18 and U20 levels.

Now, he believes the side can go on to compete for trophies next season as they return to the city after a year's exile in Coventry due to rink refurbishment.

He said: "I wanted to play in my home town and I think we've got a really good team for this year.

"Our aim this year is to win trophies and I honestly think we're going to be up there fighting for honours this season.

"I'm really happy to have signed to stay in Milton Keynes for next season, Lightning is a great club to be a part of – and obviously it's an honour to play for your hometown team.

"After the tough season we've just had, we're all looking forward to going back to our home rink.

"I know our team will go from strength to strength and hopefully I can help the team win some more trophies."

Poole said he was delighted with the re-signing.

"I'm very pleased to bring back Leigh for his sixth season," said the Canadian.

"He's a big, talented player that brings so much to our team – he is consistently one of our top scorers and poses a physical presence along with his scoring threat.

"I believe Leigh needs to have a big season this year, so that's my challenge to him – I think he'd be the first to admit that last season wasn't his finest in MKL colours.

"For our team to have success we need him to be a dominant player on a nightly basis – and I know that no-one is more determined than Leigh to bring success back to Milton Keynes Lightning."

CYCLING

Tobyn's king of the capital

TOBYN Horton of Bradwell Abbey based Madison-Genesis took his – and his team's – first ever individual win in the Pearl Izumi Tour Series in London.

The 26-year-old Channel Islander, pictured, slayed that particular albatross on Thursday, out gunning some of the country's top road sprinting talent after over an hour's racing around the super-quick, flat Canary Wharf 1km circuit.

He then followed that up on Saturday night, taking top honours in the Jupiter London Nocturne held on the roads surrounding the iconic Smithfield Market.

"That was my first individual win in the Tour Series," said Horton after Thursday's win. "I was knocking on the door quite a lot last year and also nearly been there a couple of times this year so I'm really pleased that I have managed to pull it off and be the first Madison-Genesis rider to have done so."

It nearly wasn't Horton's night after a bout of illness in the previous week had interrupted his racing plans.

Many of the Tour Series regulars stayed in London so they would be fresh for Saturday evening's Nocturne but this time the opposition was strengthened by entries from World Tour teams such as Garmin-Sharp and Team Sky.

The start of the eighth running of the hugely popular race was delayed by nearly an hour due to an accident in one of the earlier support races and although held in nearly complete darkness, the sight of the over 60 strong peloton racing around the sometimes cobbled streets – illuminated only by regular street lighting – had the deep crowds entertained for 45 minutes of high octane racing.

This year's Tour Series finishes on Friday evening with two final races on the island of Jersey.

RUGBY LEAGUE

Wolves end two-year winning run with North Herts scalp

MK WOLVES caused perhaps the upset of the season when they beat the reigning East Premier League and East Challenge Cup champions North Herts Crusaders 26-12 in their own back yard.

Off the back of a pleasing cup result against Cambridge Lions the week before, Milton Keynes travelled to Hitchin on Saturday to face a side who had not lost a match in nearly two seasons.

"We've always been battered by North Herts Crusaders but against all the odds we beat them on their own turf thanks largely to a fantastic team ethos, spirit and camaraderie," said Pete Nutall from the Wolves.

Crusaders started the brighter, taking advantage of a Wolves knock-on and taking a 4-0 lead with a try.

On 15 minutes, with three defenders in front of him, Wolves' loose forward Ollie Fountain received the ball 20 yards in from the left touchline on half way.

He accelerated, stepped hard and fended off two defenders to put himself in space and headed for the line. The fullback tackled him but only as he planted the ball over the line for a great solo try which Scott Aspinall converted making it 6-4 to Wolves.

A short range try for Crusaders put them 8-6 up ten minutes later, but Wolves were in determined mood and were gradually beginning to work their way into the game by completing sets in attack and getting up more quickly in defence.

On 32 minutes Fountain caught Aspinall's kick and off-loaded to the supporting Aspinall who ran 15 metres under the posts for the Wolves' second try, which he converted for a 12-8 lead to take into half time.

The first 10 minutes of the second half saw Crusaders equalise with a well-worked try to make it 12-12.

A crucial try was scored on 55 minutes as from 25m out Aspinall ran laterally and passed to centre Kyle Gibbings, who passed out of contact to a supporting Kimo Kirby who scored wide out right, despite being tackled. It wasn't converted, making the score 16-12 to the Wolves.

On 65 minutes the ball was spun left to winger Jake Reynoldson, who was held just short. His quick play-the-ball allowed Aspinall to pick up and drive over from two metres for another unconverted score, making it 20-12 to Wolves.

Crusaders kept pressurising the Wolves and had several sets of tackles in the visiting 20m but Milton Keynes refused to crack, heroically defending their line until the ball was theirs again.

From a scrum on their 30m line, the ball was fed to Fountain who went 20m before passing to Jake Reynoldson who then weaved for a further 40m, beating several defenders before scoring just to the left of the posts.

Aspinall easily converted and with one minute left victory was secured.

It was a game in which MK's team spirit was fantastic. The satisfaction and relief of such a hard earned victory was clearly etched on all the players' faces at the final whistle.

With high-flying King's Lynn coming to Emerson Valley this Saturday the Wolves will once again have to show a lot of tenacity, skill and team spirit to get another win, and take another big scalp.

There was great news for MK's U16s too, who beat the experienced Hemel Stags 50-12 – a result that came two weeks after beating the same opposition 50-26 at Emerson Valley.

Euan Starling just pipped match day captain Jake Hodges and centre Ben Savage to the man of the match award with a 4-try haul to add to the hat-trick he scored in the previous match.

The very impressive result came on the back of a much improved performance, where the errors and indiscipline from the previous outing were eradicated.

MK Wolves U16s will now head into this Sunday's four team inter-county tournament at Oxford full of confidence, as they represent Buckinghamshire Rugby League against Hampshire, Gloucestershire and Oxfordshire.

Ricciardo triumphs

WIN: Daniel Ricciardo wins his first ever Grand Prix in Canada

first victory of the season.

"I think we could have taken more risk with the strategy – but it's hard to know exactly what was going on around me when I'm not sitting on the pit wall," said Vettel.

"It's nice to be able to finally breakthrough to get a win this year and capitalise on Mercedes having a problem."

Christian Horner, team principal, said: "Daniel has been phenomenal since he joined the team and I think he fully deserved the victory.

"We benefitted from the misfortune of Mercedes, but nonetheless he still had to be there and his pass on Perez was the deciding moment in the last ten laps.

"The added bonus of having Sebastian up there on the podium as well tops off a perfect day.

"It's a great result and a great motivation for the forthcoming races."

The win sees Ricciardo, who replaced Mark Webber for this season, leap up the standings to third with 79 points. He is 38 points behind Mercedes' Lewis Hamilton – who retired – with his team-mate Rosberg top on 140 points. Vettel is up to fifth on 60 points, 19 behind his team-mate.

Red Bull are second in the constructors' standings, 119 points behind Mercedes.

Meanwhile, Red Bull has confirmed that it has extended its successful relationship with Chief Technical Officer Adrian Newey in a new multi-year agreement.

As part of this new deal, Newey will work on new Red Bull technology projects, as well as advising and mentoring the team as it develops its Formula One cars over the next few seasons.

The details of the new projects will be announced in due course.

Newey first joined Red Bull at the beginning of the 2006 season.

In 2010 the team won its first drivers' and constructors' World Championships, and has retained the titles ever since. The season next heads to Austria on June 22.

COMMONWEALTH GAMES

Baggaley chosen again

Glasgow bound: Andrew Baggaley

TABLE tennis star Andrew Baggaley has been selected for his fourth consecutive Commonwealth Games after making England's squad for Glasgow 2014.

City ace Baggaley, who is England's leading table tennis medallist of all time at the Commonwealths, will play in the men's team event and men's singles, having first competed in Manchester more than a decade ago.

"I feel honoured and extremely fortunate to yet again represent Team England at the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow," Baggaley said.

"When table tennis made its debut as a Commonwealth Games sport on home soil at Manchester 2002 I did not think I would be competing again in 12 years time on British soil.

"I believe I have been successful at previous Commonwealth Games events but feel I will face the biggest challenge of my career in Glasgow."

Baggaley has won two gold medals, two silver medals and one bronze after competing in Manchester and then Melbourne 2006 and Delhi 2010.

Meanwhile, the MK based husband and wife duo of Chris and Gabby Adcock have been selected for Commonwealth duties in badminton along with a host of other city players who will represent England.

Andy Ellis has been called up for the men's doubles alongside Chris Adcock, with Gabby teaming up with Lauren Smith.

Rajiv Ouseph will compete in the men's singles and there are also call ups for Chris Langridge, Milton Keynes National Badminton League player Peter Mills, Heather Olver, Kate Robertshaw and Sarah Walker.

Narrow victories for Wolverton and Brickhill

Northants Premier League

STONY Stratford were comfortably beaten by Oundle Town due to a collapse at the top of the order.

Three of the top seven batters were out for ducks, while the others failed to reach double figures until Kevin Wijesinghe took to the crease.

He struck 30 but it was not enough to stop Stony capitulating to 86 all out.

Alex Martin's 44 helped Oundle reach their target for the loss of five wickets.

Cherwell Cricket League

A KNOCK of 87 by Kieran Lampard helped Wolverton Town beat Banbury 2nds by one wicket. They chased down Banbury's 168-7 to narrowly claim victory.

In another close Division One game, Great Brickhill defended their total of 172-9 to beat Tiddington by just 11 runs.

George Humphries claimed a haul of 7-49, while Anton de Beer's 69 helped them win.

In Division Three, Bletchley Town lost to Shipton-under-Wychwood 2nds by six wickets.

Bletchley were all out for 127, with Tom Woodwards notching up 32, but Shipton scored 131-4 by the 40th over.

Four Counties Cricket League

MOHAMMED Shahid produced a super bowling spell of 4-14 to help MK City dismiss Eaton Bray for 115 after 43.3 overs in Division One. City lost six wickets as they chased that target down.

Olney Town collected a winning draw over Thurleigh after Harry Warn's 58 and 57 by David Livermore helped Town amass 221-5.

Four wickets by Stuart Keeping weren't enough to get the win though as Thurleigh reached 201-8 in the second innings.

Biddenham conceded their tie against Milton Keynes.

The club also hosted a successful British Milers' Club PB Classic which more than lived up to its name as there were a large number of personal best times set. The latest round of the East Midlands Grand Prix was the Corby five (mile) race with Jonathan Peters finishing ninth.

Robinson left gutted as Gleeson walks out of MK

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

DONS midfielder Stephen Gleeson has joined Championship side Birmingham City on a Bosman free transfer – leaving boss Karl Robinson 'gutted'.

The 25-year-old, whose current deal at stadiummk was due to expire, was offered a new contract by the club but has handed Dons a big blow by instead penning a two-year-deal with the Blues.

It follows Luke Chadwick making his loan switch to Cambridge United permanent, and with speculation linking Brendan Galloway with a move to Everton as well as Dele Alli with the top English clubs, Dons' midfield could look slightly light.

However, Mark Randall this week took up the offer of a new contract that was made to him to bolster the position.

Gleeson's move to the West Midlands ends his five-year spell in Milton Keynes, during which he has spoken about a desire to play at Championship level and return to the Republic of Ireland squad.

"I'm gutted he's gone," said Robinson. "We did everything to try and keep him, but he wanted to play in the Championship, which is where we all want to be.

"He's a good lad and I wish him and his family all the best."

A product of Wolves' academy, Gleeson initially joined Dons on loan from the Black Country outfit during the 2008/09 season and impressed enough in his five appearances to earn a permanent move to MK1 that summer.

He established himself as a first-choice centre midfielder and in July 2011, Robinson named him as the club's vice-captain.

In all he made 206 appearances, scoring 17 goals, while also helping the side reach the League One play-offs three times.

In 2011/12, the influential midfielder was named as one of League One's top ten players by opposition managers and was included in the PFA League One Team of the Year.

The following campaign saw Gleeson miss considerable time due to injury although he did score a 30-yard screamer in the historic 2-1 FA Cup victory over AFC Wimbledon, a strike which would later be awarded goal of the season.

Last season, Gleeson made 42 appearances, which saw him pass the 200-mark for Dons and contribute three more goals.

Meanwhile, Chadwick has also left after making no secret of his desire to join his boyhood club Cambridge on a permanent basis.

Dons fans will be able to give the former Man Utd man a good send-off in the team's pre-season trip to the League Two side on July 29.

"I'm obviously sad to say goodbye but now is the right time to move on," said the 32-year-old.

"I've got the opportunity to play for the team I've always supported which is brilliant but obviously I'm sad to leave Milton Keynes."

City born Randall, who has signed a one-year deal at the club, said: "I'm looking forward to getting a full pre-season under my belt which I didn't have last year and I think it's going to be a good year.

"It was the best feeling ever to be back in a Dons shirt last season and I am thankful to the gaffer for giving me the chance."

Gone: Stephen Gleeson has got his wish to play in the Championship by signing for Birmingham City, who survived on the final day of last season.

Super Ricciardo takes dramatic triumph to beat Mercedes men

RED Bull Racing's Daniel Ricciardo won the first Formula One race of his career in a dramatic Canadian Grand Prix to become the first non-Mercedes driver of the season to win.

The Australian was understandably delighted and said his success felt 'surreal' as with just two laps to go, he took advantage of a problem suffered by championship leader Nico Rosberg to take glory.

Ricciardo was third with just seven laps to go before passing Force India's Sergio Perez and the faltering car of Mercedes' Rosberg right at the death due to a failure in his engine's hybrid system.

"I think it still seems a bit surreal to be honest, just because it all happened so quickly at the end," said Ricciardo.

"I was third for a while and then it all happened in a really exciting fashion.

"Once I got past Perez I knew I just had to drive clean and get in Rosberg's DRS zone and, from then on, it was just awesome."

The race had to finish under the safety car following an accident between Felipe Massa and Perez, who narrowly missed the Red Bull of Sebastian Vettel as the German world champion squeezed his way onto the podium in third for the Tilbrook outfit.

"Finishing under the safety car made it a bit weird, but I wanted to make sure the two drivers who were in the accident were okay before I started celebrating," Ricciardo added.

"We achieved a great result with first and third – so let's enjoy it – but we will still have some work to do also.

"This will motivate the guys to work even harder and find even more, so I'm sure it will keep coming even better for us at the next few races."

Vettel felt that the team could have been more aggressive with their strategy, but was nevertheless delighted that Red Bull secured their
